COURSE SYLLABUS

DESCRIPTION:

This course will introduce the history, theology, and spirituality of the Christian Church from 1500 to the present. The rich theological, spiritual, and moral heritage of Catholic thought during this period will be highlighted through study of primary sources. In order to profit from the cultural and ethnic diversity of the student body, students are encouraged to bring to classroom discussion sources that illustrate the development of their own cultural traditions: including, for example, the unique contributions of Hispanic and Asian Catholicism; as well as the theological, liturgical, and spiritual emphases that distinguish Western Catholicism from Eastern traditions such as the Maronite, Chaldean, Melchite, Malabar, and Ruthenian churches.

During each class selected primary and secondary texts will be studied and discussed: wherever possible primary texts will be taken from the Office of Readings. In this way students' ongoing prayerful study of these texts in the liturgy will provide a deepening re-acquaintance with the traditional and contemporary sources of Christian history, spirituality and doctrine.

GOALS:

The student will be able to identify important persons, events, and schools of thought that influenced the development of Catholic doctrine and practice from 1500 to the present. The student will learn to apply in both catechesis and evangelization primary and secondary sources available in printed and electronic formats, and will become familiar with appropriate reference tools in church history.

COURSE FORMAT and EVALUATION:

1. This course will combine lecture and class discussion. In order to maximize the effectiveness of lectures in our culturally diverse student population, representing a wide range of different linguistic experience and ability, all audio-visual materials presented in lectures will be available through the course website or in the library. Lecture/discussion will be based on assigned readings that may be downloaded from the course website. Active participation in class discussions is essential, and will figure into the final evaluation.
2. The midterm and final examinations will consist of "take-home" essay questions. The questions will be made available on the day scheduled for the exam, and are due one week later: the exam must be typed and double-spaced.
3. Research will be undertaken using primary sources studied in class or cited in the bibliography below. Possible topics for a paper or Powerpoint/Webpage-based presentation include: (1) any historical, spiritual or theological subject raised during the past six hundred years of Christian history; or (2) a comparison of any theme in two or more Christian writers who were born after 1450. The goal of the research is to demonstrate familiarity with Christian primary sources. The paper or presentation will be due on or before Friday, November 17, 2017.
 - 3.a) The student will write a research paper at least eight pages in length, double-spaced and including appropriate references.

- 3.b) Students who prefer the medium of verbal presentation may submit the results of their research as a 15-20 minute PowerPoint or web-page presentation. In order for these presentations to have pedagogical value they may not simply duplicate material presented in class or taken from the course website. Although these presentations may be intended for use in the parish setting, they must be of graduate-school quality: thus, for example, all citations must be accompanied by appropriate references. Students must submit a recorded narrative intended to accompany the presentation: both presentation and narrative are due on Friday, November 17, 2017.
4. Late work will be accepted for a grade only if the professor grants an extension. Out of fairness to those who submit their work on time, late work will normally be graded down by one-half letter grade for each day it is late.
 5. Students must clearly distinguish between: (a) their own work; and (b) ideas or text they have taken from other sources, including the Internet, published texts or audio-visual materials. The requirement to distinguish clearly between one's own work and the research of others applies equally to written and oral presentations. Failure to give credit to cited sources constitutes plagiarism and will result in a grade of "F" for both the material presented and the course.
 6. Submission of the two examinations and the research papers is required for successful completion of the course. The final course grade will be computed as follows:

Class participation	10%
Research paper or presentation	30%
Midterm	30%
Final Examination	30%

DIVERSITY:

1. PEDAGOGY: "The rich theological, spiritual, and moral heritage of Catholic thought during this period will be highlighted through study of primary sources.
